U Design is a Kenyan based firm offering services in Architectural and U Interior Design consultancy.

The firm's objective is to partner with the client and provide a high standard of modern contemporary and flexible professional expertise that exceeds their expectations. Despite our diversity in array of clientele our professional approach to any architectural commissions is always personalised for each individual project. Each commission receives the same meticulous performance approach ensuring that the end design product has attention to detail and sensitivity to interpretation of the client's brief. During the whole design stage, we are in contact with our clients, accommodating their ideas & suggestions while offering expert opinion on the best design alternatives. This approach to design commissions has served us quite well over the years and has eliminated the client alienation factor from the finished design. This design approach and philosophy assists clients in formulating environmentally responsible solutions of a unique quality that maximizes the site potential within budget and time criteria.

OUR DESIGN PROCESS

From its inception through to completion, the development of an architectural project is an extremely lengthy process, with many external influences, regulations, & forces to consider as well the various contributing internal elements of the design team. As a result of this there are a core set of drawings and documents that (most) projects require in order for them to be procured successfully, and be completed efficiently and without error. and these are broken down into what is frequently referred to as the architecture design process. Broken down into seven steps.
